

SAFEGUARDING LEARNERS

INFORMATION BOOKLET FOR EMPLOYERS AND LEARNERS

Version 12 – September 2020

THE PURPOSE OF THE BOOKLET

This booklet has been developed to provide employers and learners with all the information needed to enable them to understand the topic of Safer Recruitment and the Safeguarding of Learners.

It will explain what safeguarding is about, where it has come from, where to go and who to contact if you require any further help or advice. It also details the policies and procedures in place at Gloucestershire Engineering Training (GET) to safeguard young people in their care and advise you of your responsibilities and obligations in relation to same.

We have endeavoured to include only the information that is essential for you to know. Further detailed information can be provided if necessary. Further copies of the booklet can be provided upon request.

WHAT IS SAFEGUARDING?

The background

Safeguarding proceeds from our commitment to place the learner at the centre of our concerns and to build around the learner those policies, practices and procedures they need to succeed. Further Education colleges and providers of adult, community and work-based learning in England are required by law to secure the safety of children, young people and vulnerable adults who are their learners. In 2008 the Department for Innovative Universities and Skills (DIUS) made a commitment to safeguarding young people and vulnerable adults.

Safeguarding aims to protect learners from sexual, physical and emotional harm by looking at preventative action. The importance of safeguarding was brought the forefront in recent years due to high profile abuse cases being reported in the media. Safeguarding in further education also includes protecting learners over the age of 18. For example:

- Work-based learners
- Learners on new 14-19 Diploma courses.

Safeguarding is made up of various different acts such as:

- Human Rights Act 1998
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the child
- Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006
- Children Act 1989/2004
- Education Act 2002
- Rehabilitation Act 2002
- Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974
- Sexual Offences Act 2003
- Safeguarding Children and Safer Recruitment in Education 2007
- Keeping Children Safe in Education 2020
- Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015

As a minimum, all educational establishments must ensure they have the following in place:

- Safeguarding policy
- Safer recruitment policy
- Equality & Diversity policy including anti-racism and anti- homophobia
- Programme of induction and protection of staff
- Procedures/processes for the dissemination of Safeguarding information for staff, employers and learners
- A Designated Person who is responsible for Safeguarding within the organisation

Who are we safeguarding from?

Most people are afraid of 'stranger danger' and the headlines the media give the majority of attention to such as paedophiles and strangers who abuse. However, this is relatively uncommon compared to abuse perpetrated by family and acquaintances.

Individuals who suffer abuse are most likely to suffer abuse at the hands of someone known to them; this could be staff, co-workers or learners, volunteers or outside contractors that visit or work alongside them on a regular basis. It could be anyone with whom the individual builds a relationship and begins to trust.

Safeguarding must be looked at in the widest possible sense, therefore practically anyone and everyone must be considered and GET as a training provider and the sponsor company as the Employer must have procedures in place to risk-assess learners in their care.

GET's Obligations

As a training provider we have a legal responsibility to safeguard all learners in our care. In order to do this we will ensure that all employees have an enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check that is obtained before any appointment is made. Those already in employment at GET have had enhanced DBS checks undertaken and have them reviewed/renewed on an annual basis. We also subscribe to an online update service which means we can check the DBS record of any employee at any time if we have any concerns.

Part of our commitment to Safeguarding is ensuring that everyone is aware of the organisation's policies, procedures and systems. Every allegation that is made must be taken seriously and the correct action and steps must be taken.

As a Training Provider we have certain obligations that we must carry out to ensure the safest working environment we can for both learners and employees. We must make sure that:

- There is a comprehensive and effective safeguarding policy in place
- There is a designated person/s who deals with safeguarding and Safeguarding Lead
- There are effective measures to ensure safer recruitment for staff.

GET's Policy

GET has a comprehensive Safeguarding Policy and a copy is attached in Appendix A of this booklet. Further work has been undertaken to ensure that Safeguarding is a theme that runs through all policies and procedures within the organisation and amendments have been made to ensure its inclusion to all work procedures and instructions.

Staff at GET have all been through formal safeguarding training and procedures are in place to ensure that the dissemination of safeguarding information is effective and efficient.

A new recruitment policy has also been devised to ensure that the process of safer recruitment is implemented and followed and that thorough checks are undertaken to ensure protection for the young people in our care. Our recruitment policy is an employee policy and has been attached at Appendix B for your information.

The Safeguarding Lead

The Safeguarding Lead at GET is Linsey Temple.

The Lead is a member of staff who will take responsibility for safeguarding in the company. They will deal with and be responsible for all safeguarding procedures and will act on any concerns that are raised. If the Safeguarding Lead decides to further investigate any allegation that is raised, they will appoint a designated person to conduct the process.

GET's Designated persons - Warren Thomas, Andrew Walton and Keith Wallington.

The Designated Person's responsibilities will include;

- Taking responsibility for promoting positive safeguarding procedures and practices within the organisation.
- Receiving information from, and offer advice to staff, learners and employers.
- Maintaining secure records in relation to safeguarding issues and allegations.
- Assessing information promptly and taking appropriate action.
- Being familiar with national and local safeguarding legislation.
- Knowing who to contact and establish links with their local Safeguarding Children's Board/Partnerships and the relevant people within children and adult services or police.

If there is a problem regarding the Safeguarding Lead/ Designated Person/s, the Chairperson of GET or any one of the current Directors can be approached. A list of Directors can be obtained from GET upon request.

The Employers Obligations

Each employer also has a responsibility to ensure the safeguarding of learners in their employment and amendments to the training contract have been issued which will stipulate how this should be managed. We accept that learners will take part in one to one contact when in company and it would be impractical to expect the employer to DBS check every employee that may come into contact with the learners, but we will require an assurance that the employer is committed to safeguarding and has all the relevant information required to enable them to identify the signs and know how to act. If an employer has a concern, they can report it to their nominated Review Officer or directly to the Safeguarding Lead.

If GET has a concern, they will raise the issue with the company representative and agree a course of action. GET will refuse to work with and withdraw the services provided to any employer who breaches their commitment to safeguarding. They will also inform the relevant external agencies of any concerns.

The Learners' Obligations

Whilst there are not any obligations by law, GET will expect all learners to be vigilant and aware of the signs of potential abuse and report anything they feel is suspicious. We will expect all learners to report issues related to themselves and also related to their fellow learners. Learners should talk to any member of staff they feel comfortable talking to and do not necessarily have to approach a Designated Safeguarding Person or the Safeguarding Lead.

How to Act

If a learner reports any form of abuse (see next page for forms of abuse) you must follow the correct steps:

- Always listen to what you are being told without making any judgement
- Don't ask ANY questions or try to investigate yourself
- Write down everything you are being told and sign and date what you have written

- Never promise confidentiality
- Explain how the reporting of any incidents/concerns will be dealt with
- Give this straight to your Designated Person who will deal with the investigation further

The Five R's

Recognise- All staff must be aware and recognise behaviour that could indicate potential abuse.

Respond- Response is vital. Every allegation must be reported and never ignored, the correct approach is extremely important to both the learner and the person involved.

Report- Report any concerns to the designated person, if you cannot do so report them to the organisational leader or deputy, never withhold from reporting any type of information.

Record- you should only record exactly what you have been told, using factual words and quotes from the individual themselves.

Refer- only a Designated person or their deputy can make the decision to refer an allegation or complaint having examined all information correctly and accurately.

Duty of care

The duty rests upon an individual and or organisation to ensure that all reasonable steps are taken to ensure the safety of a child or young person involved in any activity or interaction for which that individual or organisation is responsible. Any person in charge of or working with children, young people or vulnerable adults in any capacity is considered, both legally and morally, to owe them a duty of care.

Recognising Abuse

It is the responsibility of all staff at GET to recognise an abusive situation or the results of one. There are various signs of abuse which you might spot, dependent on the type of abuse.

Physical Abuse

Signs of Physical Abuse:

- Bruises to the eyes, mouth, or ears, fingertip bruising (grasp mark)
- Unlikely reasons given for the injury or a refusal to give any explanation
- Bruises of different ages in the same place
- Outline bruises (handprints, belts or shoes)
- Burns bites and scars or unusual shaped scars and fractures
- Fear of suspected abuser being contacted

Forms of Physical Abuse

- Hitting / slapping / smacking / pushing / kicking
- Poisoning
- Burning / Scalding
- Fabricating the symptoms of or deliberately inducing illness, and/or misuse of medication
- Restraint or inappropriate sanction

Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child, young person or vulnerable adult to take part in sexual activities including sexual exploitation.

Sexual abuse also includes involving children or young people in non-contact activities, such as looking at or producing pornographic material, watching sexual activities, or encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways.

Those who want to sexually abuse young people or vulnerable adults will usually build up a relationship with the person first before abusing them.

Signs of Sexual Abuse

- Behavioural concerns: for example, depression, self-harm, suicide attempts, running away, overdoses, over or under eating
- Sudden changes in mood and altered attitudes to particular adults
- Sexually transmitted diseases
- Direct disclosure
- Emotional Abuse

All abuse involves some level of emotional abuse, although it may occur on its own without other signs of abuse.

Signs of Emotional Abuse

Emotional abuse can be very difficult to define or prove, but there are signs and symptoms to identify it. Possible indicators include:

- Behavioural problems such as petty crime, telling lies, being disruptive
- Low self-esteem and lack of confidence
- Aggression
- Indiscriminate attachment to others or failure to attach to a parent
- Lethargy, depression and anxiety - including loss of vitality and being withdrawn
- Developmental delay including difficulty with learning
- Self-harm or covering the evidence of self-harm

Neglect

Learners that need extra care from an adult could be vulnerable to neglect. Neglect can involve all or some of the following:

- Ignoring medical or physical care needs
- Failure to provide access to appropriate health, social care or educational services
- The withholding of the necessities of life, such as medication, adequate nutrition and heating

Signs of Neglect

- Undernourished
- Unclean skin and hair
- Dirty or soiled clothing
- Inappropriate clothing for the weather
- Expressing hunger or stealing food
- Tiredness
- Not receiving appropriate medication

Financial Abuse

Financial abuse could involve a learner having money, benefits or possessions taken from them by either someone they know, or don't know. This could be a family member, a peer, or a person in authority over the learner.

Cultural Implications

All staff need to be aware of cultural difference which may affect some learners.

Child Criminal Exploitation: County Lines

Criminal exploitation of children is a geographically widespread form of harm that is a typical feature of county lines criminal activity: drug networks or gangs groom and exploit children and young people to carry drugs and money from urban areas to suburban and rural areas, market and seaside towns.

Forced Marriage

Forced marriage is defined as marriage without the consent of either or both parties and where coercion is used. Forced marriage is not the same as arranged marriage, where although the families involved may select a partner and those partners ultimately have the right to consent to, or refuse, the marriage.

Female Genital Mutilation

In some cultures, Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), female circumcision, is practiced on girls and young women. FGM is illegal in the UK and cultural considerations can never override a child's legal right to be safe from harm. Indeed, women in the UK from cultures practicing FGM have been in the forefront of working to ensure it is stamped out.

Honour Based Violence

So called 'honour-based' violence (HBV) encompasses incidents or crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), forced marriages, and practices such as breast ironing.

Peer on Peer Abuse

Peer on peer abuse occurs when a young person is exploited, bullied and/or harmed by their peers who are the same or similar age; everyone directly involved in peer on peer abuse is under the age of 18.

Online Safety; Bullying/Harassment

Cyberbullying can range from embarrassing or cruel online posts or digital pictures, to online threats, harassment, and negative comments, to stalking through emails, websites, social networks and text messages. The internet can also be used to target vulnerable people into radicalisation, terrorism and extremism.

It is not always obvious when someone is the victim of abuse but there are a number of signs to watch out for which may suggest that they are being abused. They are:

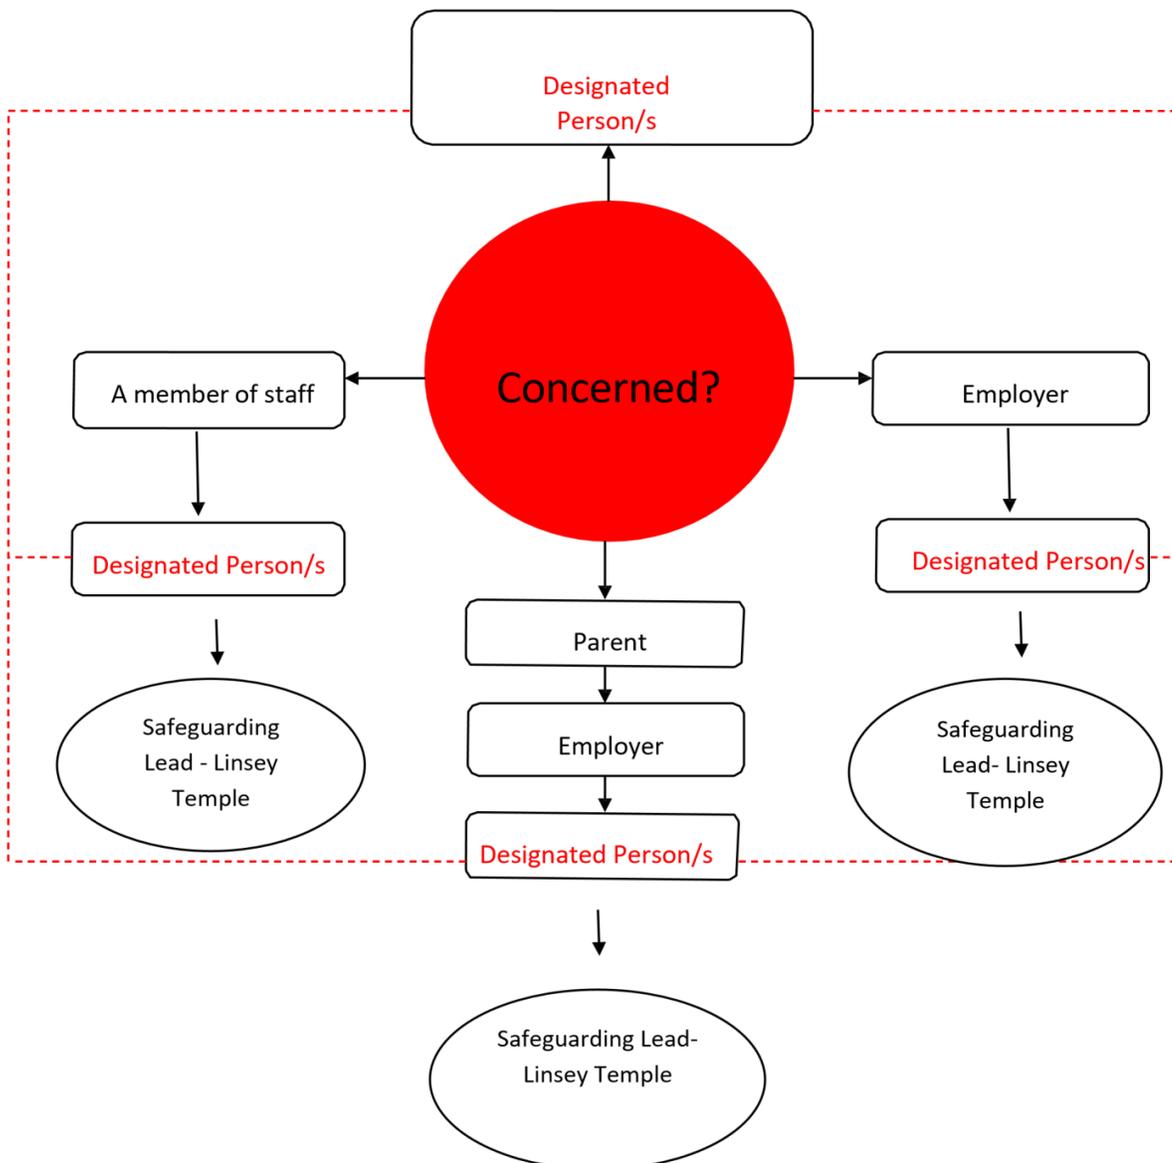

- A change in the individuals work
- Lots of unexplained absence
- Marks and bruises in unusual places
- What other individuals are saying
- What the individual is saying themselves

Who can I talk to?

It is important to stress that the identification of any or a number of the above signs does not automatically mean that the individual is being abused and in many cases there can be other explanations for these behaviours. However, if you feel that you are becoming the victim of abuse or you have a concern for another individual you should report it immediately. You should speak to any member of staff you feel comfortable talking to, you don't have to speak to a Designated Safeguarding Person or the Safeguarding Lead. If you don't feel comfortable having a face to face discussion, there is a secure and confidential email address which can be used to communicate. It is welfare@get-trained.org
